TEACHING- LEARNING AND EVALUATION

SUMMARY

Key Indicator: 2.3	Teaching- Learning Process
Metric No : 2.3.1	Student centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem solving methodologies are used for enhancing.

HANDS ON LEARNING

The series of hands-on learning activities provided students with a comprehensive and immersive learning experience across a spectrum of scientific concepts. The calibration of UV-Visible spectrophotometers offered a practical understanding of the crucial process of ensuring accurate measurements in analytical chemistry. In addition, preparation of anti-inflammatory iodine ointment, and techniques such as spheronization and pelletization in tablet manufacturing. Adjusting lighting for microscopes and conducting experiments on pelletization were also covered. Additionally, students were provided with a practical demonstration of using freely available online software to draw chemical structures. These activities collectively offered insights into analytical instrument calibration, pharmaceutical formulation, manufacturing processes, microscopy techniques, and digital tools for chemical representation, equipping participants with valuable skills applicable across scientific disciplines. Overall, these activities transcended theoretical learning, enabling students to bridge the gap between concepts and applications. The multidisciplinary nature of the activities equipped them with a versatile skill set, nurturing a holistic approach to scientific exploration and innovation.

Expt.No.	01

Experiment No : 1.

Aim : To perform calibration of UV visible spectrophotometer

Reference : Indian pharmacopoeia, 2007, volume-I, Government of India, Ministry of Health & family welfare, published by India pharmacopoeia commission Ghaziabad, pg No : 110 - 112

Requirements :

Apparatus : volumetric flask, Beaker, pipette, funnel

Chemicals : potassium dichromate, 0.005 M sulphuric acid, potassium chloride, toluence, Hexane, Methanol etc.

Principle :

The pharmacopoeia monograph usually on standard (1% cm) values in order to calculate concentration of drugs in extracts from formulations in order to use standard values of instrument used to makes measurement must be properly calibrated with aspect to it's wavelength and absorption scale. In addition checks, For light and spectral resolution are run. These checks are now often built into software of V.V instrument, so that instrument meets good manufacturing practice requirement.

Report -

A comprehensive lecture on the specialized topic of vitamins was conducted for the final year B. Pharm (A Div.) students on 19th August 2023. The lecture provided an in-depth exploration of the role of vitamins in human health and their significance in various physiological processes. The students were introduced to the classification of vitamins, their sources, and their functions, with a focus on both water-soluble and fat-soluble vitamins. The lecture also covered vitamin deficiencies, their clinical manifestations, and the importance of maintaining adequate vitamin levels for overall well-being. The session concluded with a discussion on the importance of vitamin supplementation, potential risks of excessive intake, and emerging trends in vitamin research. The students actively engaged in the lecture, asking insightful questions and demonstrating a clear understanding of the subject matter. Overall, the lecture provided valuable insights into the world of vitamins, equipping the students with essential knowledge that will undoubtedly benefit their GPAT examination.
